Excerpt: . . . 11 ously disclose to consumers that bundled with it was software that traced consumers Internet browsing and force-fed them pop-up advertising. The Commission recently issued a final consent order to resolve administrative complaint allegations that this failure to disclose was deceptive in violation of Section 5 of the FTC Act. The Commissions spyware law enforcement actions reaffirm the principle that consumers have the right to decide whether to install new software on their com-puters. Acts and practices that undermine their ability to make this choice will be vigorously prosecuted. B. Substantial Harm to Consumers As the Agency learned at the workshop, and through our enforcement actions and subsequent investigations, spyware can cause a broad range of injury to consumers. The harm from spyware may vary significantly in both type and severity. The allegations in the Seismic case...
